Fury at long wait for an ambulance

Town 'getting a raw deal from services'

A MAN who waited for an ambulance to arrive for more than an hour as his best friend struggled to breathe has hit out at authorities for ignoring Haverhill's needs.

Laurie Gott, of Malin Close, said he was "disturbed" that an ambulance had to travel more than 40 miles from Huntingdon to treat 64-year-old Tony Mann.

And in a town which has seen local government cuts put an end to full-time weekend firefighters at the fire station and shift policing operations to Bury St Edmunds, and still lacks traffic wardens to deal with ongoing parking issues, the friends are not alone in telling the Weekly News they "feel like nobody wants us in Haverhill".

At around 1am on Sunday, July 3, Mr Gott, a taxi driver, was getting ready for bed after returning from a gathering at a nearby friend's house when he received a call from Mr Mann, who suffers from the lung disease emphysema.

Mr Gott, also 64, said: "My mobile rang and it was Tony. He said he couldn't breathe and had fallen on the floor.

"I ran round the corner to his place in Shetland Road and found him between the window and bed gasping for air on the floor."

Man forced to wait for ambulance says 'nobody wants us'

■ From Page 1

Mr Gott used a nebuliser – equipment allowing medication to be inhaled through the lungs – a number of times but his friend of almost 20 years, who lives in a bungalow next door to his son Chris and daughter-in-law Jane, did not improve.

Mr Gott said: "Jane and I spoke with the operator and they said an ambulance was on its way.

"An on-call first responder turned up after about 10 to 15 minutes followed by another.

"With his condition all they could do was provide extra oxygen but the ambulance and hospital could provide much more like injections and tablets.

"Then, well over an hour after I called, the ambulance arrived and he was taken to Addenbrooke's by which time he was stable, fortunately."

Mr Mann, a retired fireman, was released from hospital on Sunday afternoon but returned for further scans on Monday.

He said: "It is a bit disconcerting that the ambulance coverage for Haverhill is so poor.

"There are more and more people living in Haverhill and the place deserves 24-hour coverage. I was lucky my attack wasn't worse."

A spokeswoman for the East of England Ambulance

Service said that coverage in Haverhill has actually increased over the past two years so that in addition to a dedicated ambulance based in Camps Road, the area now has a rapid-response vehicle, both covering calls at all hours.

She added: "We are constantly reviewing best use of resources to ensure crews and vehicles are situated at optimum standby points to get to the majority of calls as quickly as possible.

"Occasionally, during times of particularly high demand such as overnight on Saturday July 2 and Sunday July 3, the Haverhill ambulance crew and others in the vicinity may well be on other calls and the next available ambulance to transport to hospital will come from farther away."

Nevertheless, the pair told the Weekly News that they were worried about a growing trend of Haverhill being ignored when it comes to the provision of vital services.

Mr Gott said: "It's the same with a lot of services. In Haverhill we feel a bit out on a limb in that we always seem to play second fiddle.

"It is like nobody really wants us – being on the boundaries of Essex, Suffolk and Cambridgeshire. Haverhill seems to be an afterthought to authorities but we shouldn't be."

Rosemary Conley group steps up its workouts ready for 21-hour epic event

A HEALTH and fitness group is stretching a little more than usual in preparation for an overnight walking event in the name of charity.

The Rosemary Conley group based in Haverhill is gearing up for Relay for Life – an outdoor event to raise cash for Cancer Research UK – which members will be pacing a track for 21 hours on Saturday, July 30.

The regional event in Ickworth Park, Horringer, will be the culmination of several weeks of fundraising for the local group which has already raised thousands of pounds for the charity.

Karen Perkins, the group leader, said: "We have been selling quizzes, T-shirts and recipes in class, and members have been bringing in donation bags made up of unwanted books, CDs and bric-a-brac.

"We have had an amazing 197 of these, with each equating to £23 for Cancer Research.

"We are now preparing for the relay by making special clothing, signs, T-shirts and headbands."

This will be the third year of Relay for Life and the first the Haverhill class has entered a team. Each team must have a member on the track at all times over 21 hours from noon on the Saturday, with each lap having a different theme, including doctors and nurses.

The teams will also be fundraising on the day as the public, who can enter Ickworth Park free of charge from noon to midnight, have the chance to enjoy tombolas, stalls, raffles, live bands, choirs and children's games.

Mrs Perkins added: "We have already raised £1,500, discounting the bags, and hope to raise much more on the day. "We have chosen to do this because the cause touches everybody's lives but also because Cancer Research has the same message about healthy eating and exercise as our classes do."

Anyone can attend classes on Wednesdays at Castle Manor Business and Enterprise College in Eastern Avenue from 6pm. The classes have been running for 16 years and offer advice on exercise and diet, as well as offering popular zumba dance exercise sessions from 7.30pm.

Three badly hurt as car rolls over

THREE men in their 20s suffered serious injuries in a car crash in the early hours of the morning.

The trio were travelling on the A143 outside Haverhill, near the junction with the B1061 in Little Wrating, when their silver Volvo rolled across the road a number of times and landed on its roof.

The emergency services received the call at around 4am on Saturday.

Paramedics from Haverhill were first on the scene and found one man outside the vehicle and two inside, all with severe injuries.

Three further ambulances attended along with a hazardous area response unit, two volunteer doctors from the

BY ADAM LUKE

Suffolk Accident Rescue Service and fire crews from Haverhill, Wickham Brook and a rescue vehicle from Bury St Edmunds.

The men, believed to be foreign, were taken to Addenbrooke's shortly before 6am. Mark Milisom, from Haverhill ambulance station said: "It appears they left the road after a substantial impact."

"The car rolled multiple times before landing on a squashed roof. Two men were cut from the car."

The road was closed after the incident until around noon.

One of the men suffered limb-threatening injuries after his legs were trapped under the car.

By Saturday night, however, all three men's conditions were judged to be serious, but no longer life-threatening. Yesterday, one man was still in hospital with serious injuries.

A spokesman for Suffolk Fire and Rescue said two men were initially heavily trapped.

Firefighters from Haverhill and Bury St Edmunds used airbags to lift the car, along with specialist cutting equipment.

The police have launched an appeal for information from anybody who might have seen what happened. Anyone with information should contact PC Ryan Harris at Bury roads policing unit on (01284) 774100.

Resident's safety fears over lights switch-off

SWITCHING off street lights will plunge most of Haverhill into darkness and cause an increase in crime and damage, according to one resident.

Chris Cullum said he was shocked to see just how many lights Suffolk County Council plans to turn off in the town as part of a plan to save £500,000 across the county.

A new "intelligent lighting system" is proposed at a cost of £2.5 million, which will turn off the bulk of the town's lights from midnight to 5.30pm.

Mr Cullum, left, said he planned to write to the council asking for a council tax rebate for the service he would no longer be receiving.

He said: "I went to the council offices and looked at the map and I was quite alarmed at how many lights are going to be switched off. It is virtually everything apart from Ehringshausen Way and the High Street.

"I think people on the Clements and Chalkstone estates will be quite concerned about this. There are a lot of underpasses and what about people who trip up or fall over things they cannot see? There is the potential for them to sue the council.

"Apart from people's safety I also think it will lead to more crime such as thefts from vehicles and criminal damage. I am also concerned about the lack of consultation about this – before they start switching lights off, they should listen to people's views. The police are stretched as it is, and this is not a good thing.

"I also think they should be looking at alternatives like solar-powered lights or dimming more lights."

A spokesman for Suffolk County Council said lights would be left on where it was necessary for safety and in other areas where the system had been implemented there had not been an increase in crime.

Concern over rise in drink-driving

SUFFOLK police have said they are "disappointed" at a rise in drink-driving and drug-driving from last year.

Results from the summer enforcement campaign for June 2011 show an increase in offences of 13.3 per cent compared with the same campaign in 2010.

Officers across the county conducted 507 breath tests, of which 111 were positive. Last year, over the same period, of 711 breath tests only 61 were positive.

'Missing' man safe

CONCERNS were raised for a Haverhill man's welfare after he went missing.

Police were informed that Stephen Hastings, 26, had gone missing at around 8am on Sunday.

Mr Hastings was last seen by a family member in his house and said he was going out, but did not return. He was reported missing at around 12.15pm.

A police spokesman confirmed he was found safe and well later that day.

A TEAM of neighbourhood children have been rewarded after they helped save the blushes of police officers.

Eight youngsters aged from 5 to 11 worked together to recover a set of police car keys from a park hedge after an officer dropped them during a chase – but it took a doggy detective to get them back.

The rescue mission started on Friday when Haverhill police made an arrest in a park opposite Queensway after a suspect had been chased – but during the struggle, a bunch of keys to a brand new police car were lost.

Roz Hendriks, a clerk at Haverhill police station, said: "I live opposite the park and the incident was witnessed by my 8-year-old son Andrew and his friends.

"Since the loss of the keys rendered the vehicle unusable and would need the locks changing, I suggested to my son that he might go and look for them."

And Andrew, who suffers from spina bifida and hydrocephalus – a condition in which fluid builds up on the spine and brain – began the search in a 30m stretch of hedge.

He was quickly joined by other children living in the Queensway area, including 11-year-olds Abbi Griffin and Harvey Ockwell, 10-year-olds Keeleigh Nunn and Ellis Griffin, Jamie Griffin, 9, and

Analogue channels to be switched off

THE digital switchover is on course in West Suffolk.

Homes which pick up their television signal from the transmitter in Sudbury lost the BBC2 analogue service on July 6 and are set to lose the other Charlie Hotson, 8.

Meanwhile, Daisy Streeton, aged just 5, helped by keeping an eye on the bottom of the hedge and checking to see if anything fell out when her elders checked the top.

Keeleigh said: "I first got involved when I saw Andrew looking in the hedge as I was walking my dog Pebbles.

"We looked for two days and Pebbles found them.

"She picked them up with her teeth before taking them to Ellis."

Ellis added: "It was a police car so we thought we should help because it was important."

"But we also enjoyed doing it and I would do it again, definitely. It was good fun and a bit of excitement."

Andrew then rang up the police to tell them the keys had been found and he handed them over on Monday.

Mrs Hendriks added: "This whole episode has caused a lot of excitement on the estate with the kids."

"It has given them a sense of purpose and it was great for Andrew with his disability to be so involved."

"This is a very close-knit community and all the kids look out for each other."

Yesterday, Haverhill police officers visited the youngster to present them with certificates and goody bags.

It's a blast from the past on the streets

AFLEET of vintage cars, lorries, and even fire engines took to the streets in and around Haverhill at the weekend to bring a slice of history to a fun day out.

Visitors flocked to the Haverhill Historic Transport Rally and Road Run on Sunday for the sights and smells of classic vehicles including cars, lorries, vans, fire engines, military vehicles and buses.

The free event – one of the highlights of the town's event calendar – was based in the Town Hall car park off High Street all day.

It also saw the Eastern National Preservation Society running free bus rides on the vintage vehicles around the town.

It was the third year that Haverhill Town Council worked with the region's Historical Commercial Vehicle Society to bring the popular rally to the town, instead of more rural areas across East Anglia.

There was also a road run which proved quite a spectacle for onlookers as a procession of automobiles from different periods passed through surrounding villages, Steeple Bumpstead, Finchfield, Wethersfield and Sible Hedingham.

Meanwhile, the Arts Centre bar and bistro sold refreshments to the hundreds who turned out, as well as putting on a selection of historic transport films on the cinema screen.

90-year-old conned by bogus workmen

A PAIR of conmen pressured a 90-year-old man into handing over £250 in cash against his will.

The fraud took place at the man's home in Hamlet Road, Haverhill, between noon and 2pm on Monday, when the rogue traders posed as roof workers.

A spokeswoman for Suffolk police said: "Two men called at the home of a 90-year-old man, offering to clean his guttering."

"He asked for a price but they said they couldn't quote until they had had a look at the roof, so he gave them permission to start work."

"A short while later they asked for payment of £480 – the man refused this and asked his neighbour to help."

"The men then dropped the price to £250. He was still unhappy but had agreed to pay in cash so they entered the house and were paid."

The crooks then hid some of the notes they had just been given and said they had not been paid enough but they eventually accepted it.

The pensioner's neighbour asked for a receipt but when the suspects went to their white tipper truck to get one, they drove off.

The first man is described as white, around 6ft 1in tall, of muscular build with short blond hair and wearing a dark blue t-shirt. The second man is described as white, around 5ft 4in tall, with short sandy or red hair, long stubble and a ruddy complexion.

Calls in relation to this incident should be made to PC Carl Edley at Haverhill Police on 01284 774100 or Crimestoppers on 0800 555 111.

BE SAFE IN YOUR HOME

SUFFOLK Police have offered this advice on simple precautions you can take to protect your property from rogue traders.

- Use the door chain
- If you don't know who is at the door, ask them
- Check the caller's card. Never be afraid to confirm details by making a phone call
- Most utility services offer a password scheme and a phone number, which you can ring to check the identity of callers
- If in doubt, shut your door. Ring 999 to contact the police
- Don't feel pressurised into buying items from doorstep callers
- Be wary of anyone calling at your door offering to do repairs or gardening. If you feel the work is necessary, get personal recommendations and contact a number of companies for a written quotation
- Check whether the trader is a member of a trade organisation or builders' quality mark scheme
- It is reasonable to pay a small deposit but never pay in full in advance before work is completed
- Don't keep unnecessary amounts of money at home
- Preferably use a trader who you know has carried out a good job for a neighbour

Parking crackdown

POLICE are stepping up their campaign to stop illegal car parking in Haverhill.

Officers have been posting warnings on cars breaking the rules, but now that Suffolk County Council have re-painted double yellow lines, fines will be issued.

Already a number of enforcement tickets have been handed out and police say there will be no more warnings.

Police took action after a public meeting saw residents raise the issue as their top priority.

Released prisoner died on railway line

Let's party: Castle Manor Business and Enterprise College

A REMAND prisoner from Haverhill who had been on suicide watch killed himself on a railway line less than a day after being released from custody.

Now release conditions for prisoners are likely to be tightened up following an investigation into the death of Przemyslaw Ruppenthal, 29, by the prisons Ombudsman.

An inquest heard that although custody and prison officers had done a good job in looking after Mr Ruppenthal while he was behind bars, magistrates and his solicitor had been unaware that he was considered at risk when he was released on bail.

A jury returned a verdict that Mr Ruppenthal, a security officer, of Garlands Close, had taken his own life.

He knelt in front of a train at the Newmarket Road railway overbridge on September 1 last year, the day after he was released from custody having been held over the bank holiday weekend following a domestic incident with his wife, Joanna.

Mr Ruppenthal, who had been released on bail by magistrates at Bury St Edmunds with a condition he did not contact his wife, died from multiple injuries after he walked in front of a train travelling at between 40 and 50mph.

He texted his wife shortly before his death to reveal his plan but she did not check her phone and only found out in the evening when police broke the news.

Bill Hunter, senior custody officer at Bury St Edmunds Magistrates' Court, said Mr Ruppenthal had been "anxious" and had not wanted to be locked up.

He said Mr Ruppenthal had earlier banged his head on a wall and had tied his shirt around his neck while in a police cell.

Mr Ruppenthal was put in a different cell with an open gate where staff could talk to him and checks were made on him.

The inquest heard Mr Ruppenthal was held in prison over the weekend where he was also monitored closely.

Mr Hunter said Mr Ruppenthal returned to the court where he told magistrates the spell in custody had been the "worst four days of his life" but seemed happier.

Solicitor Paul Booty, who represented Mr Ruppenthal, said he had been aware of a previous suicide attempt by his client, but not of the monitoring by custody staff which may have affected his suitability for release.

Susannah Eagle, a senior investigator for the prison and probation ombudsman's office, said: "I considered staff did everything they could to support him while in their care."

But she felt lessons could be learned from Mr Ruppenthal's death.

Thanks for helping to avert dress disaster

Sir, I wonder if it's possible to make a special mention to Paul from Zeiss in Haverhill.

My daughter had been in and chosen her dress for her forthcoming prom back in March. All was going well then we received a call from Paul on Saturday stating that another girl had been in the shop to collect her dress and was distressed to discover that she had the same dress as my daughter's, albeit a different colour!

Anyway, to avoid distress I went down to the shop that afternoon where we spent a good hour sorting out another dress.

My daughter, who was not with me, had to go and get measured for the dress yesterday morning and we have now collected it.

Paul and his wife were so lovely to Monica and made her feel special. They gave her all the accessories to go with the dress and altered it free of charge.

They truly are real-life angels. I would just like to say a huge thank-you to Zeiss for making her have the biggest smile.

Haverhill

A RALLY GOOD DAY: The Haverhill Historic Transport Rally was a gathering of many historical vehicles for the public's own fascination and enjoyment; you even had a chance to have a ride around the old buses to experience how the classic transportation has changed throughout the years.

It was organised by the Historic Commercial Vehicle Society on July 10 in the Haverhill Arts Centre car park, and it was sponsored by Haverhill Town Council and supported by the Eastern National Preservation Society.

More than 100 vehicles attended the rally making it a very popular event; also this year there were more cars than ever before, suggesting the event is becoming more popular each year. There was a great variety of vehicles this year including military, fire and emergency vehicles and pre-war cars which made the event more interesting for all ages.

There were seven bus trips in and around the town and each trip was completely full. There was also a road run which was particularly enjoyable for not just people riding the vehicles, but for all the surprised people who saw more than 30 classic, historical vehicles as they drove past their houses.

The road run journeyed around villages including Hedingham, Steeple Bumpstead and Finchingfield. Due to the fact they passed through very beautiful historical Essex villages the vehicles definitely blended into the surroundings.

Gordon Mussett, Haverhill Town Clerk, said: "This free event continues to attract visitors to the town, as well as providing good family entertainment for residents. Although this year the open-top bus declined to start the morning, the free bus trips were fully loaded. We are hopeful that high street retailers enjoyed a financial boost from the increased number of Sunday visitors, and look forward to staging the rally in 2012."

All the vehicles attending came under their own power, and left the same way at the end of the day. The farthest-travelled were from south Essex, some 60 miles away, and with some achieving as little as 10 mpg, at not inconsiderable cost.

ON TRACK: Rail campaigners in Haverhill are re-branding. For more than a decade, the Cambridge to Sudbury Rail Renewal Association (CSRRA) has pushed for the return of the train line, through campaigns, petitions and preliminary reports, and now they have created a new website. The site, called RailHaverhill and subtitled The Cambridge to Colchester Rail Project, suggests two possible routes for a new line – following the A1307 almost to Linton and then branching off to join the Newmarket to Cambridge line near Fulbourn, and following the A1307 to just beyond Linton and then taking the line of the old railway either to Great Shelford or to Whittleford.

SUMMER FITNESS: A new outdoor exercise programme will be available for fitness fanatics this summer. Six weeks of free zumba and spinning classes will take place in Haverhill's new Plaza in Ehringhausen Way over the school holidays. The classes, organised by Haverhill Leisure Centre, will run every Thursday, weather permitting, starting on July 28.

The Latin-inspired dance-fitness exercise zumba will be a turn-up-and-try session from 6pm, while spinning – where places are limited due to the number of bikes – will kick off at 7.20pm. To book a spinning class place, on a first-come-first-served basis, phone (01440) 702548 or if you are a member of Abbycroft Leisure, book at www.acleisure.com.

Coach's course for cricket kids

YOUNGSTERS can get some top tips at a new cricket camp – from a member of the Sri Lanka Test team's coaching staff.

Alex Meddle, left, a Weston Colville first-team player working with the Sri Lankans during their UK tour, will lead the cricket camp, being held at Weston Colville cricket club over three days later this month.

It is aimed at allowing youngsters to spend concentrated time building their cricketing skills while having fun.

The Weston Colville Cricket Camp will take place from July 26-28 and will be open, on a first-come-first-served basis, to all children aged between 7 and 13. Supported by a team of qualified cricket coaches and sponsored by the Cambridgeshire Cricket Board, the camp is designed for children of all cricketing abilities to learn and develop their skills in the game.

Steve Potter, chairman of Weston Colville Cricket Club, said: "We are seeing a really great level of interest in cricket these days, but it is a game with many different aspects which take a while to learn.

"Weekly training sessions are great, but we realise that youngsters can really progress quickly if they spend a concentrated period learning, practising and then building on the skills learned."

Alex said: "This is a great way for kids to spend some of their summer holidays. We will be teaching all aspects of the game and are giving an opportunity to children of all cricketing abilities and experience to really develop their cricketing skills, while also having fun at one of the most picturesque and well-maintained village cricket pitches in the county. All they need is a packed lunch and suitable outdoor clothing and footwear. Although it is called a camp, there is definitely no overnight stay and we won't be pitching tents on the pitch."

Residents win bus noise fight

Firm can't clean vehicles during the night

PENSIONERS who endured sleepless nights for six years have praised councillors who helped them win a legal battle against a neighbouring bus company.

Chrissie Draper, 61, and husband Anthony, 64, were part of a group of 30 residents who opposed an application by bus company Burtons Coaches to continue to clean buses at their depot in Duddery Hill, Haverhill throughout the night.

Now the residents of Clements Lane and Orchard Close have learned that they have won the day, with the company's application for a Certificate of Lawfulness refused by St Edmundsbury Borough Council.

Burtons Coaches went into administration at the end of May, but Stephensons of Essex has since taken over part of the business and saved 24 of the 50 jobs at the site.

BY JO DEEKS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

Mrs Draper said: "All we ever asked for was a night's sleep. I have lived here for 35 years and we never had any trouble before 2006, when they started bringing in buses and jet-washing them from 7pm to 7am.

"The noise disturbance all through the night was dreadful. It was a nightmare, not just for us but for all the residents around here and most of them are elderly. It was like a hotel for buses.

"We have been trying to get something done about it for years and we did not know where to turn. In January we decided enough was enough and we contacted Cllr Anne Gower and Cllr Maureen Byrne. Without their help and that of solicitor Nick Wray we would never have won the day.

"We just want to thank them and let people know that if communities stick together you can stop things like this. They said they had always worked through the night, but we knew they had not and we provided the evidence to prove it.

"We have had some lovely sleep since the company went bankrupt. Now, whoever runs it, we won't have the disturbance again because we have it in black and white that they cannot work through the night."

Cllr Gower, a town, borough and county councillor, said: "I was delighted at the outcome for the residents. I was horrified when I found out what these people had had to endure and my heart went out to them.

"To be deprived of a night's sleep is just awful and they had been trying for years to do something about it. Cllr Byrne and I worked closely together on it and it is a terrific outcome. Stephensons are running services out of the site in the agreed hours and it seems to be working well."

Beauty pair win top awards

TWO young beauticians have picked up top awards and taken huge steps on their way to a rewarding career.

Sam McGlue, of Roman Way, Haverhill, and Cheryl Webb, of Castle Lane in the town, who work at Sonia's in Queen Street, received the prizes from two Cambridgeshire colleges as best trainers in their age group.

Sam won beauty apprentice of the year for Huntingdon Regional College at a glitzy awards ceremony in the Marriott Hotel in Huntingdon.

The 20-year-old, who has worked at Sonia's since the age of 14, took the gong ahead of 40 students over the academic year.

Meanwhile, 17-year-old Cheryl received the award for best level 1 learner at a presentation at Cambridge Regional College.

The teenager, who does a day of work experience at Sonia's every week, said: "It has been really fun."

Town mayor and former breast cancer sufferer Maureen Byrne will be guest of honour at the evening, which also aims to raise the profile of local women's support group, Wednesdays for Women.

Sarah added: "I was diagnosed more than a year ago and now finally feel I am back to my old self. Organising this event is about helping to find a sense of self worth and achievement."

The event will allow businesswomen to sell their goods.

There will also be a raffle with prizes including a three-course meal for two and an overnight stay at the Plough Inn in Hundon, hair straighteners and pink Champagne as well as a "luxury tombola".

The bar will be open and will offer a special offer "Ab Fab" cocktail.

Sarah said: "We would love for as many ladies as possible to come along on the night and have a lovely evening and raise money for a great cause that could affect any one of us. It will be a great excuse for

A highlight for any men in attendance will be a sealed bid auction for two golf prizes at The Belfry and Haverhill Golf Club.

Tickets for the event are £2 each, which includes a raffle ticket issued on arrival. Entry fee at the door is £3. People who want a ticket or would like to make a donation to the night can call 07884 404045 or email Sarah at getgobooks@gmail.com.

Tackling litter: the clean-up crew ignore the rain to carry out their task. CP

Groups unite in clean-up quest

PUPILS put on their wellies to clean up a park close to their school.

Haverhill Volunteer Centre, park volunteers and year 2 pupils from Couplands Primary School worked together to organise a successful litter-pick at Haverhill's East Town Park and along the Railway Track.

A group of 29 children, parents and teachers donned boots and gloves on to help with the event, which was part of the schools outdoor learning week. Despite the rain, the children showed their community spirit and enthusiastically collected eight bags of rubbish.

The teachers and parents said the children really enjoyed the morning out of school. Working with the other volunteers made it a good fun, with the children also learning about recycling and keeping their community tidy.

Anyone who would like to get involved in volunteering in the community should contact the volunteer centre on (01440) 708444 or info@hvc.org.uk.

THE owner of a cat shot with an air rifle has said whoever pulled the trigger has "something wrong with them".

Police are trying to track down the thug who shot 2-year-old Pudding as he was playing outside his home in Raine Avenue, Haverhill, leaving him with a pellet stuck in his leg.

The incident took place in the two weeks leading up to Monday, July 4, on nearby playing fields.

Pudding's owner, who wished to remain anonymous so as not to put her cats at further risk, said: "Me and my partner do regular checks on our cats because they can get into scrapes, and on the Monday we found a lump on the inside of his leg.

BY ADAM LUKE

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

"He seemed to be finding it quite painful and there was clearly something under the skin. He was really quiet and quite skittish.

"At first I thought it was probably a seed or something but when we took him to the vets on Saturday they told us straight away that it was an air rifle pellet."

Pudding required minor surgery to remove the lump and a full-body X-ray, costing £200 altogether.

And his owner, who owns another young female cat and believes Pudding was shot not once but twice, added: "I reported it to the police as soon as I came back from the vets for peace of mind more than anything – there are a lot of children and animals in this area.

"I think it is really sick that anybody would want to hurt animals."

"There must be something wrong with them."

"It has affected Pudding badly and he won't go outside now. It is just selfishness."

"I can't imagine it would be any of our neighbours and we have never had any issue like this in our area before."

If anyone has any information on these incidents, contact PC Rupert Beynon at the Haverhill Safer Neighbourhood Team on (01284) 774100 or Crimestoppers on 0800 555 111.

Old wartime letters bring a daughter much closer to dad

Labour of love:

The discovery of them helped her come to know him better

CLEARING out a house when a relative has passed away is always a depressing task. But when Jean Perraton's mother Maud died in 2004, the cheerless chore led to a rather wonderful discovery.

Stuffed behind an armchair, Jean found a small, battered suitcase; it turned out to be packed with hundreds of wartime letters from her father, faded and tattered through endless re-reading.

"My mother didn't throw things away; I didn't even know she'd got these letters until I came across them," recalls Jean. "And when I realised what they were, I was so excited."

It transpired that when Jean's father, George Warner, was posted to Egypt and Italy as a despatch rider, he'd written to Maud two or three times a week without fail – the only contact he had with her during the Second World War.

"For four years he didn't have any home leave at all, and he never phoned her in all that time; she hadn't got a phone in the house. And that's the thing that really came home to me, how far away those chaps were from their loved ones," says Jean.

But George's letters to his 'dearest Maudie' give a wonderful insight into what life was like for an ordinary soldier – a voice often left out of more conventional histories.

George was certainly determined to make the most of his lot. A self-taught violinist, he'd amuse himself by entertaining his comrades and taking up new instruments – the banjo, guitar and ukulele – to pass the time, even joining the official dance band towards the end of the war.

His other great love was swimming, and he describes seeking out the best spots and borrowing holey old bathing suits, or even going 'au naturel', to take a longed-for dip.

"It's mainly the nice things, and most of it is very upbeat," says Jean. "But towards the end, when they were kept wondering if they would get leave, you could sense it was getting him down; the letters were a bit more grumbly!"

Jean knew that George had a great friend, Bill Evans, and they'd been through the war together. But her knowledge of his life was reduced to a couple of funny stories, like the time George needed new horsehair for his violin bow: "He got a horse and said to Bill 'I'll hold the horse, you go behind and snip some hair from the tail'. Well Bill was the one who always fell off his bike, or broke his leg, or got concussion, and poor Bill got kicked and they didn't get the hair!"

"He'd tell us stories like that, but nothing more, and at that age you don't ask. And then they die, and you think 'oh, I wish I'd asked him more . . .'"

As for George's job in the Royal Army Service Corps, Jean knew he was a motorbike despatch rider "but I didn't know anything else. It's not a glamorous or swashbuckling occupation; he would go off and take messages between sites.

"But he loved it. He wanted an outdoor job, and one letter tells us that to escape a desk job, he told them he couldn't read or write, which was clearly untrue!" she laughs, sweeping her hand over the letters.

Grateful for this new insight into her father's life, Jean decided to collate the letters for her family to enjoy. "My father died in 1964, just before his first grandchild was born, so I wanted his grandchildren to know about him," she explains.

Picking out her favourites, Jean then buried herself in historical research to put them into context: "I didn't know much about the progress of the war," she confesses. "I've never been interested in military matters! But I wanted it to be a story

Extracts from George's letters to Maud

■ March 14, 1943

I seem to be thinking more and more of you and home as time goes on. Sometimes if I am on a long journey on the bike I can almost imagine that you are on the back and we are exploring again together.

■ April 9, 1943

The next tent had an unwelcome visitor the other day, a green scorpion, and I ran over a big black one. From now on I shall hang my boots up out of reach.

■ April 29, 1943

I've just come in from chasing two asps – one got away but I killed the other with an iron bar. They are nasty things, half-way between a lizard and a snake, and I think the poison comes out through a hole in their teeth.

■ September 2, 1943

What little bit of chocolate we manage to get we usually pass on to the kids. Most of the kids run about on bare feet with just a little dress on and some of the bambinos are entirely without clothes. From a very early age they seem to have to care for themselves.

■ January 14, 1944

We have a nice cold wash under a tap at the crack of dawn. We are all very particular about keeping ourselves clean. If you have lice you stand a good chance of getting typhus – rats carry it and we often have them scuttling about and running over our beds.

■ July 21, 1944

I managed to see La Bohème at the Opera House and thoroughly enjoyed it. Mimi, the soprano, had one of the most beautiful voices I have ever heard. It is true that she was rather fat and well developed when she should have been small and delicate, but I forgot that when I heard her glorious voice.

■ August 28, 1944

Poor old Jerry is about licked now. You can see a big difference between his prisoners of two or three years ago and those of today. Some of them today are boys who still ought to be with their mothers.

with a thread rather than a lot of interesting snippets from letters.

"And then my husband said 'well why don't you make it into a book?'

So she did – and after two years of work, the result is One Musician's War: From Egypt to Italy with the RASC, 1941-45. But it isn't just George's story: the book also tells the tale of her mother back at home.

Life wasn't easy for Maud. At the outbreak of war, she was left with 3-year-old Jean and a newborn baby, Julie, and went to live with George's parents in Northamptonshire, which was deemed safer than their Eastbourne home.

But her mother-in-law made no secret of disliking Maud: "Things were terrible for her," says Jean. "My grandmother disapproved of her – she was older than my father by six years – and no woman would have been good enough for her favourite son."

"So she had that double trouble of worrying about him, what was happening, when he'd come back, and this hostile mother-in-law."

But young Jean was very much on her mum's side; so much so, in fact, that she was rather cold toward her father when he finally returned home.

"I was tremendously attached to my mother, because I knew she was unhappy; I was old enough to sense that my grandmother wasn't being nice to her.

"So I was fiercely protective, and then I remember seeing this dark chap and thinking 'my goodness, who's he?' I was very wary, and I didn't welcome him to start with. And that's sad."

Fortunately it wasn't long before life returned to normal and Jean, who's lived in Cambridge since the mid-60s, turned out to have much in common with George. Like him, she's musical – her sitting room is dominated by a grand piano – and is also a keen swimmer: she swims in the Cam twice a week and is the author of Swimming Against The Stream: Reclaiming Lakes and rivers for People to Enjoy.

"There's quite a lot about swimming in the letters. And the one memory I have of him before the war is of him swimming out to sea with me clinging to his back," she smiles.

"He was a marvellous dad – fun and caring. But I don't think I ever felt as attached to him as I did to my mother, until I read these letters. I feel I know him better, and I feel much closer to him now than I think I ever was."

One Musician's War: From Egypt to Italy with the RASC, 1941-45 by Jean Perraton, is published by Amberley, priced £14.99

Charity contest hots up

A MONEY-making competition between businesses is heating up.

The 2011 Towergate Accumulator Challenge, which launched at the start of last month, has seen almost 50 companies in Haverhill and the surrounding areas raising the most money for charity, having been given only a £50 stake.

Last year's winners – raising nearly £3,000 – Glemsford accountants Paul Donno & Co have moved to repeat their popular charity casino evening on Thursday, August 18, from 7pm at The Purple Mango Indian Restaurant, in Sturmer Road, New England, near Haverhill.

Tickets for the event cost £25 and include a two-course Indian buffet and £5 of chips to play with at the tables.

The dress code is black tie and cocktail dresses. Numbers are limited so book early at charitycasinoevening.eventbrite.com

Public opinion may save libraries' future

Cycling trio help hospice

Cheque mates: Dale Nunn, Ed Campbell and Glen Bevan hand over the cheque to the hospice's Jenny Baskett

Cabinet set for key decision

BY JENNIE BAKER

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

ALL of Suffolk's libraries are set to remain open if council recommendations are approved by the authority's cabinet later this month.

The proposals, developed after a four-month consultation involving 5,000 people, would mean Suffolk County Council would save 30 per cent of its libraries budget during the next three years.

Cllr Judy Terry, Suffolk County Council's portfolio holder responsible for libraries, said: "Most important of all was not closing any of Suffolk's libraries.

"We feel the proposals being put forward strike the right balance between protecting much-loved council services while finding necessary and unavoidable financial savings. The proposals put Suffolk's libraries on a more sustainable footing for the future – something we can all agree is needed."

At a meeting on Tuesday, the cabinet is likely to agree to a structure in which libraries would be run through a central organisation with responsibility for the libraries budget.

The countywide structure would support libraries with services including employing staff, training, the countywide book network and developing outreach services – like taking books to people and people to their closest library – but the shape of the organisation has yet to be decided.

A best-value evaluation would be carried out to that end, and the results presented to the cabinet in November.

Option one would see it organised as an in-house county council business unit, like the current Schools Library Service.

Alternatively, there could be an external but council-owned company, or thirdly, the service could be operated as an independent company managed by the council through a contract.

In the meantime, the council will be running pilots with community groups or town or parish councils interested in providing their own library service.

However, the future of the county's mobile libraries service is less than certain. A proposal to cut fortnightly visits by mobile libraries to monthly trips is likely to be put to the public.

The cabinet will be asked at the July meeting to approve a new public consultation on how the mobile library service can be restructured to make savings.

Cllr Terry said: "The review has demonstrated to us that there could be a more efficient way of running the service in order to keep it going – so we're going to explore those issues via an open public consultation. No decisions will be made until we've taken those views into account."

THREE friends who cycled 925 miles during an 11-day ride across the UK have handed over nearly £1,600 to charity.

Dale Nunn and Ed Campbell, of Haverhill, and Glenn Bevan, of Sturmer, rode from Land's End to John O'Groats to raise £1,598 for a local cause – with more money expected to flood in – without a single puncture.

The trio set off on June 6 for the 11-day ride on behalf of St Nicholas Hospice care, and with the exception of one rest day in the Yorkshire Moors only stopped to eat and sleep at B&Bs and travel lodges along the way.

Dale, who works for Suffolk Fire Service, said the first day in Cornwall was particularly difficult, due to relentless hills.

Meanwhile, fitness instructor Glenn, who works at Abbeycroft Leisure Centre, in Haverhill's Ehringhausen Way, said the stretch alongside Wales was the hardest part of the journey as a whole.

On Tuesday, July 5, the trio visited the hospice to hand over the funds to Jenny Baskett, events and challenges fundraiser, and were given a tour of the building.

Glenn said: "The hospice is an amazing place and seeing it made it all the more worthwhile raising the donations."

Disabled may have to pay to park

DISABLED drivers displaying a blue badge may be forced to pay for off-street car parking.

Members of St Edmundsbury District Council's Overview and Scrutiny Committee have agreed to review whether the current rules – in which badge-holders can park for free in borough-owned car parks – should be continued.

A panel of councillors and officers will carry out the review, which is likely to report back in October and will involve a wide range of organisations being consulted on the issues.

The committee met last week and heard that the key issue for disabled customers was availability of spaces and their proximity to services, rather than cost.

They also considered that it is not necessarily true that disability means low income, and that the same concession is not extended to other low income groups.

Cllr David Nettleton, chairman of the overview and scrutiny committee said: "The review is an investigation of the issues.

It will collect information to help clarify the principles of charging blue badge holders and will talk to those most closely concerned."

The meeting also heard that 5.1 per cent of the population of St Edmundsbury holds a blue badge, a figure which is set to grow.

Tyler to chop off his locks for good cause

A GENEROUS teenager is hoping to give a large amount of money to charity – and his hair.

Tyler Summers, of Bute Court, Haverhill, is preparing to have his long blond locks cut considerably shorter in an effort to raise as much money as possible for Cancer Research UK.

The 15-year-old chose the charity after a succession of family members and family friends fought the illness, with a number losing their battle.

Tyler, a pupil at Castle Manor Business and Enterprise College in Eastern Avenue, added that it was particularly prominent at the moment as his great grandfather – known to Tyler as "granddad bronc" – is Zanna, Tyler's mum, said: "Tyler has had long hair for so long and it means the world to him. Anyone who knows him will understand how big a sacrifice this is.

"I am so proud of him that he is going through with it and supporting such a good cause. His hair is longer than mine.

"He chose to do it for Cancer Research because it means a lot to him."

Tyler will also be supported by his four close brothers, Alexander, 11, Tristan, 13, and twins Brandon and Connor, both aged 10.

The big haircut will take place from 3pm on Saturday, July 30, at Brett's Barbers, in Withersfield Road, and will be accompanied by collections for the charity across the town.

Dummy ammo stolen at show

STEVENS SOLICITORS

Stevens Solicitors makes inroads into Cambridge

despite the doom and gloom of the recession, a local firm of solicitors has gone from strength to strength, culminating in the recent acquisition of a Cambridge firm.

Stevens Solicitors, which was founded in Haverhill in 1982 and extended into Saffron Walden in 1984, has acquired the successful Cambridge practice of Somerton & Fletcher, and both firms are optimistic about the future.

Alan Caldwell, criminal defence lawyer and proprietor of Stevens Solicitors says: "We are delighted that, after a difficult period following the tragic death of our colleague Bob Stratton last autumn, we have now become the Cambridge office of Stevens.

"We see this as a really positive step in the recession, particularly in light of the sad passing of my business partner Caroline Dixon last December."

The acquisition will allow the Cambridge branch to broaden its range of services to encompass conveyancing, divorce and family work, employment advice, licensing, crime and motoring offences, wills and probate, as well as services to the elderly and general civil litigation.

Peter Fletcher, of Somerton & Fletcher says: "We are delighted that, after a difficult period following the tragic death of our colleague Bob Stratton last autumn, we have now become the Cambridge office of Stevens.

"The majority of the Stevens Solicitors: Expanding, and optimistic about what the future holds for its local and Cambridge practices.

existing staff have joined the new firm, and they very much look forward to continuing to provide a friendly and efficient service both to their many existing clients as well as future ones. They are also keen to pass on the benefits of being part of a larger firm with a broader range of expertise to offer but with the same ethos they have always believed in."

So whatever legal worries may be keeping you up at night, turn to Stevens for expert advice and guidance.

For more information contact the firm at 25 High Street, Haverhill, on (01440) 762511; 11A Hill Street, Saffron Walden, on (01799) 526849 or at The Trapezium, 186A Victoria Road, on (01223) 566596. Alternatively visit www.stevens-law.co.uk.

Walkers boost fund for Aiden

Community pitches in to help pay for US trip

BY ADAM LUKE

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

FUNDRAISING for a toddler to get a life-altering operation is well under way.

The total raised for 18-month-old Aiden Thompson currently stands at around £6,500 but another £33,500 still needs to be raised to send the Haverhill youngster to America for a procedure which will help him overcome his cerebral palsy.

On Sunday, more than 20 members of the community came together for a sponsored walk, meeting at 10am at the Bandstand on Haverhill Recreation Ground and walking 5k around the town.

Victoria Thompson, Aiden and his twin Owen's mum, said: "We were joined by a Red Indian called Storming Norm."

"He was 80, has emphysema and was out to help raise money for Aiden after seeing our story in the paper."

"The walk was lovely – thankfully the rain held off and once we got over the first hill we all started to enjoy ourselves. We collected donations as we went."

"We finally made it to East Town Park just under two hours after we set off. We would like to thank everyone who took part in the walk and all who sponsored us."

Funds drive: Victoria Thompson with twin sons Owen and Aiden, centre.

Fundraising events coming up include local man Jim Hollingsworth having a sponsored full body wax on July 27 – to sponsor him visit justgiving.com/aidensfootsteps and start your message with the words "Jim Wax" – and a special raffle with a 10-day holiday for two to Turkey up for grabs.

For a ticket, visit the justgiving page, donate £25 and start your message with the word "Turkey".

The community is also invited to take part in a Ladies Pamper Night at Bar Vu in Jubilee Walk on Thursday, August 4.

The evening will last from 7pm to 1am and involves nail treatments, massage, reflexology, pole fitness demonstrations, Ann Summers fun and games, a raffle and "butlers in the buff" serving.

Tickets are £5 and available from Bar Vu, Déjà vu and by emailing aidensfootsteps@hotmail.com.

Firms urged to apply for green cash

WEST Suffolk businesses are being urged to step forward for their share of £60,000 funding, designed to help cut costs while protecting the environment.

The "greener business grant" has been set up West Suffolk Local Strategic Partnership to give local companies – employing up to 250 people – and not-for-profit organisations a helping hand towards reducing their carbon levels and saving money.

They can apply for up to £1,000 to carry out simple steps such as insulating premises, replacing heating and lighting, and installing energy efficient alternatives to existing equipment.

To qualify, applicants need to arrange a free visit from an environmental advisor, who will assess their current energy use and give practical advice for reducing costs and carbon emissions. They can then apply for a grant to help fund the work recommended as a result of the visit.

For an application form or more information about the grant scheme, call Andrew Oswald on (01284) 757622 or email andrew.oswald@stedsbc.gov.uk.

To find out if your business or organisation is eligible for a free assessment, phone (01394) 444257.

Goodyear EfficientGrip.

Saving Britain fuel, mile after mile.

Fuel saved per tank calculation is based upon TUV SUD automotive data (March 2009, Report # 76236753) on EfficientGrip which demonstrated a 1.9% fuel saving compared to the average of competing tyres on VW Golf 1.9 lsd 105 bhp (0-60 11.2s) with full tank VW Golf 1.9 lsd 105 bhp equals 55.5 litres. Potential fuel savings calculation is as follows: 40,000 miles per year fuel savings = 1.9% x 55.5 litres x 40,000 miles = 41,290 litres = £1,230.00 = price of an average litre. Calculated September 2010. For full TUV SUD Automotive information on Goodyear EfficientGrip tyres please visit www.goodyear.co.uk. These gains are indicative results only. Actual vehicle findings may vary depending on: the tyre size, when tyres are replaced, driving and road conditions and proper tyre maintenance.

New teacher is top of her class!

BY JO DEEKS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

PRIMARY school pupils will be getting some first-class tuition in September when a new teacher returns to her home town for her first job.

Lucy Newnes was appointed earlier this year to the teaching job at Place Farm Primary School in Haverhill – and got more good news this week when she found out she had achieved a first-class degree at Birmingham City University.

Lucy, 21, is a former pupil of St Felix Primary, Parkway Middle and Castle Manor schools in Haverhill and had always planned to return and work in the town if she could find a job. She was surprised to discover just how well she had done in her primary education degree course.

Lucy, of Arrendene Road, Haverhill, said: "I thought I would get a 2.1, but I was really pleased to get a first. I did work really hard, especially in the first year, which I then found out did not count.

"Quite a lot of it was placements and I have already worked in three schools. Listening to lectures does not match up to actually teaching the children. It was very different working in inner-city schools, with a lot of pupils from ethnic minorities, so it was good experience.

"I am looking forward to teaching at Place Farm and I play hockey for Haverhill, so I am hoping to start up a hockey club in the future."

Jane Sendall, deputy head teacher at Place Farm, said Lucy was already teaching some classes at the school to get ready for starting her job in September. Mrs Sendall said: "We were really pleased to be taking on a local girl coming back to teach in her home town.

"For her to have a first-class degree is really exciting and so inspirational for the children."

"We look forward to making use of her enthusiasm and expertise."

Police link van crimes

A FURTHER spate of vehicle crime has taken place. Between midnight and 8.15am last Friday, a red Ford Transit van was targeted by thieves on a driveway in Monarch Close, Haverhill. They broke into the van by smashing a window and stole power tools.

On the same night, between 10pm on the Thursday and 8am the next day, suspects attempted to break into a white Fiat Ducato van in Calford Drive in Haverhill by damaging locks and doors, but they did not get in.

Police are linking the offences.

Calls in relation to these incidents should be made to Sgt Sarah Bartley at the Haverhill Safer Neighbourhood Team on (01284) 774100, the Crime Investigation Bureau on (01473) 613500, or Crimestoppers on 0800 555 111.

Bard times that lie ahead

EVERY summer, Cambridge Shakespeare Festival attracts up to 25,000 visitors to enjoy the best of the Bard in an eight-week programme of productions in the grounds of some of the city's most beautiful colleges.

In the words of The Times, "there is no knee-bending to trendy revisionism" at the festival, "but rather a tour de force of Elizabethan drama".

"The college venues are stunning and the feel of the whole event is, at times, just magical," says Dr David Crilly, the festival's artistic director. "The fact that the action takes place outdoors, around, through and sometimes 'in' the audience creates a very immediate and dynamic experience for actors and audience alike.

"But the most special thing – though it sounds cheesey to say – is our audience, which has grown and become so loyal over the years. We enjoy some fanatical support and I don't mind mentioning Bill and Bob, the identical twins (now in their 70s) who travel up from Portsmouth to see every show, as they have for the last 10 years. We know at least two couples who have seen every production we've ever done – and in 24 years, that's quite remarkable.

"Audience figures on a nightly basis vary considerably

The Cambridge Shakespeare Festival runs until August 27 at various venues. Tickets £15 (conc £11) available from (01223) 357851 or on the door. For booking and more information, see www.cambridgeshakespeare.com

(as does the English weather!), though we can expect to attract between 25,000 and 30,000 people in total this year."

The first half of this year's programme, which started on Monday, consisted of A Midsummer Night's Dream (St John's), The Comedy of Errors (Girton), The Winter's Tale (Downing) and Antony and Cleopatra (Robinson).

The second half, which opens on August 1, includes Much Ado About Nothing (King's), Romeo and Juliet (Girton), All's Well That Ends Well (Robinson) and Macbeth (Trinity).

"I have to confess that I get very smug about the festival because I think it's a really good thing," says David.

"I know I shouldn't say something like that about my own event, but it's how I feel. I get a real buzz when everything is up and running and I can stand behind an audience at one venue who might be rolling in the aisles at the comedy, then I can walk a few hundred yards to another venue and feel the intensity of the atmosphere as the audience absorbs the unfolding tragedy.

"It's really great to walk between these wonderful places on a summer's evening and feel the electricity that the festival brings to the city and think, 'Yeah . . . I did that!'

What would David say to those people who wouldn't normally consider coming to the festival because they think it's going to be boring or high-brow, or found it too complicated at school?

"Well, Shakespeare's plays weren't ever designed to be read, analysed or studied," he says. "They are meant to be experienced, in all their dynamic, colourful, tragic, absurd, moving and hilarious glory.

"One of the most gratifying things about the festival is the number of children who attend and get really turned on to Shakespeare."

CLASSIC ROLES: Works performed this summer will include Much Ado About Nothing and Romeo and Juliet

Care doesn't cost the earth

UNLESS you've been living in a hole in the ground for the last few years, you'll know that using peat-based products in your garden is destroying peatlands throughout the UK and beyond.

Peatlands provide vital habitats for wildlife, store greenhouse gases and release thousands of tonnes of carbon dioxide every year. However, peat is used in compost and soil improvers because it's light, retains moisture and stores nutrients. It's also very cheap.

In an effort to raise awareness and encourage gardeners to choose peat-free alternatives, leading organic growing charity Garden Organic has launched its I Don't Dig Peat campaign, to put an end the 24m wheelbarrows of peat which its experts estimate is being used unnecessarily by British gardeners each year.

Gardeners' World presenter Alys Fowler, who is fronting the campaign, says: "Whether people think peat is the best option depends on if they've experimented with going peat-free multi-purposes from Carbon Gold, New Horizon and Vital Earth.

"If your council is making green waste, phone their refuse department which should be able to tell you where to buy it. It's incredibly cheap," she suggests.

Historically, peat-free composts have been criticised for being inferior for seed-sowing. A Which? Gardening report from the Consumers' Association magazine noted earlier this year: "Our trial results show that peat-free composts still have a way to go to match the performance of peat for sowing seeds and growing on young plants – although the picture is rosier for container composts."

However, some peat-based composts are just as inferior as their peat-free counterparts, says Ceri Thomas, editor of Which? Gardening.

"Gardeners shouldn't assume that all compost is the same. Whether peat-free or peat-based, the quality of compost varies massively."

"Our trials found that it is possible to buy a good quality peat-free compost that performs as well as the best peat-based compost. But there are also a number of peat-based and peat-free composts which simply don't match these high standards."

FOR PEAT'S SAKE: Alys Fowler, of Gardeners' World is leading the campaign to reduce peat usage, above.

In its latest trial, Which? Gardening recommends New Horizon Organic & Peat Free Growbag for sowing seeds. Germination rates for basil were on a par with its Best Buy peat-based compost and the quality of the resulting seedlings was good.

New Horizon Organic & Peat Free multi-purpose compost (£5.99 for 60 litres) was a Best Buy container compost for the second consecutive year, outperforming seven peat-based composts, including three specific container ones, to come joint top.

Fowler says: "This campaign is saying 'think about it'. There's no need to dig up one part of the world to grow something in your back garden.

"Many people are coming into gardening through the 'grow your own' trend, because of health and environmental reasons. It would be sad to take a step backwards by using composting material which is not sustainable, when actually peat-free is getting better and better."

If you want to go peat-free, avoid buying and using soil improvers as most of these contain peat, Garden Organic advises.

Use products such as manure and leafmould to improve your soil instead.

Start making home compost and buy fewer bedding plants, switching to perennials, meaning you reduce the need to replant each year.

Search online for nurseries or mail order stores selling peat-free plants and support their peat-free initiatives.

Sometimes the good peat-free composts will be slightly pricier, Fowler concedes, but it's a small price to pay for saving the Earth.

Association of Residential Letting Agents

Every year, unlicensed agents cause Britain's landlords and tenants unnecessary stress and hassle - and sometimes loss of money - by giving incorrect or misleading advice or offering poor standards of customer service.

Why use an ARLA Member?

By using a Licensed ARLA agent you are guaranteed:

- That the agency is covered by the Client Money Protection (CMP) Scheme. The ARLA have the ability to make discretionary grants if you suffer financial loss due to the bankruptcy or dishonesty of the member and/or their firm
- To be consulting with a qualified and trained agent who can give you professional up-to-date advice and guidance.
- That you are dealing with an agent who voluntarily follows the Code of Practice and Rules of Conduct laid down by their professional body.

Membership of the Association is through formal qualification ensuring that ARLA member agents have the knowledge and experience to guide you through your property transaction as smoothly and painlessly as possible. Operating under strict rules of conduct, members must meet certain standards relating to professional and ethical practice. Under the rules, agents are required to protect and promote their client's interests, while at all times acting in a fair and proper manner. If you are unfortunate enough to suffer at the hands of malpractice by an ARLA letting agent, the Association can take disciplinary action on your behalf.

You are better protected and will get higher standards from ARLA members!

You can be sure you are dealing with an experienced and professional agent, by choosing an ARLA member.

If you are a landlord or thinking of becoming one, call 01440 768919 for no obligation advice from professionals

YOUR GUIDE TO MOVING HOME

1 Moving home can be a complicated business and, in the hectic run to the big day, it is all too easy to forget something vital. The Property News offers their readers this handy checklist that should help avoid major pitfalls. We suggest you tick off the items as you deal with them...

WITH FOUR WEEKS TO GO:

- Get estimates from removal companies, checking that comprehensive insurance cover is available against damage & loss. Is there a packing and unpacking service? Confirm the date of your move with the firm you have chosen.
- Check on your home contents insurance policies to ensure that you are covered for the move, and covered at your new address.
- Make arrangements for your gas and electricity meters (plus water meters where relevant) to be read and all your appliances to be disconnected on the day of your move.
- Arrange to take over gas and electricity at your new address, and make sure that all appliances will be properly fitted, plumbed or connected.
- Notify British Telecom and ask them to make the necessary arrangements for a final account at your present address, and for taking over or installing telephone facilities at your new home.
- Arrange for change of address cards to be printed.

WITH TWO WEEKS TO GO:

- Confirm all arrangements, times etc, for meter readings, disconnections and reconnections, with authorities and with your buyer and seller.
- Make sure you have a good stock of packing materials, including sturdy boxes and plenty of string and sticky tape.
- Begin to throw out unwanted items from attics, wardrobes. What you really don't want you may as well dump now, or send to charity. It's a great time for a good sort out!

WITH ONE WEEK TO GO:

- Send off change of address cards.
- Arrange and pay for automatic redirection of your mail by the Post Office.
- Cancel and pay up accounts for routine delivery services such as milk, groceries, fuel and your Cambridge Evening News. Re-organise these deliveries for your new address.
- Defrost refrigerators in preparation for move and, if you are moving a freezer and its contents, turn it up to maximum for a couple of days before you move.

WITH ONE DAY TO GO:

- Complete your packing except for those items you are likely to need overnight, and prepare a picnic for moving day.
- Have a large enough cash 'float' available to deal with unexpected expenses, and make sure you have collected documents and valuables together in a safe place.
- Cover carpets which are being left behind, so as to minimise damage during furniture removal.
- Check through previous lists to make sure nothing has been overlooked, then enjoy a worry-free early night!

2 ON MOVING DAY:

- Strip beds and pack bedding and nightclothes.
- Pack items for washing/toiletries.
- Take down curtains.
- Take up rugs, carpets, floor coverings, as required.
- Dismantle any light fittings etc., not included in the sale.
- Turn off electric appliances.
- Disconnect cooker.
- Turn off boiler/central heating.
- Turn off water.
- Read gas meter.
- Read electricity meter.
- Secure all windows.
- Lock all doors.
- Leave key as arranged with new owners.
- On arrival at your new home, unpack slowly and methodically so that you can check for loss or damage.

Tuned to perfection: The Abarth Punto Evo esseesse

Fiat: It's esseesse when you know

THE wait is over. Abarth's sparkling Punto Evo model has just been given a further boost with the option of the tuning brand's esseesse conversion.

The performance kit, which increases the 1.4-litre turbocharged engine's power to 180bhp and adds other technical and cosmetic equipment, can be specified when a customer orders their car, or can be undertaken later – as long as it's within 12 months or 12,500 miles and carried out by an Abarth appointed dealership.

The engine's Electronic

Control Unit (ECU) is upgraded so that, along with its Garrett GT1446 fixed-geometry turbo, the 1.4-litre turbo unit produces 180bhp at 5,750rpm. These modifications give the Abarth Punto Evo esseesse a 0-62mph acceleration time of 7.5 seconds and a top speed of 134mph.

Stopping power is supplied by disc brakes all round (fully floating self-ventilated at the front, cross drilled at the rear), complete with Brembo M4x40 front callipers. Uprated Abarth springs and Koni FSD dampers are fitted front and rear, which results in a lower ride height. A six-speed manual gearbox provides the transmission, and the car features Abarth's switch to transfer from 'Normal' driving mode to 'Sport'.

Even though this upgrade relies heavily on modern technology, the esseesse kit stays loyal to Abarth by being delivered to customers in a high quality wooden crate. Once its contents have been emptied the crate then becomes the property of the customer as an interesting memento.

The esseesse kit adds around £3,000 to the cost of a standard Abarth Punto Evo (£16,852 OTR); the figure varying slightly depending on different regions' labour costs.

MultiAir technology and a Gear Shift Indicator (GSI).

It returns 47.1mpg economy on the combined cycle and has a CO2 figure of 142g/km.

"The Abarth Punto Evo already has a winning combination of great looks, technology and high performance," says Ivan Gibson, head of Abarth in the UK. "Now the esseesse conversion will take it to an extra level for customers wishing to realise their car's full potential."

The esseesse kit adds around £3,000 to the cost of a standard Abarth Punto Evo (£16,852 OTR); the figure varying slightly depending on different regions' labour costs.

Honda ups servicing package

JAPANESE car-maker Honda is introducing four years of free servicing and roadside assistance on a range of models.

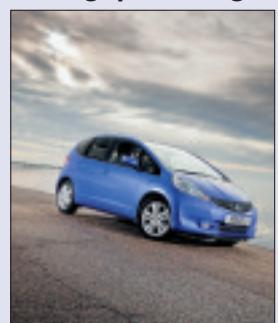

This offer is available on CR-Z, Insight and British-built Jazz (excluding Jazz Hybrid), Civic and CR-V orders until the end of September.

Complimenting the free servicing and roadside assistance is a range of four-year finance options designed to reduce monthly payments.

A four-year 0 scheme means a customer can drive away a new Jazz for £117 per month or a Civic for £162.

Martin Moll, head of marketing for Honda, says: "We have noticed a rising trend of people keeping their cars for longer and this new campaign reflects this change in ownership pattern.

"This is another example of how we're always listening to our customers and responding with products and offers that are relevant. To drive away a Jazz for only £117 a month without the worry of the cost of servicing and roadside assistance for four years really shows we have our customers' needs and concerns at the front of our minds."

The Honda Jazz: Four years' free servicing.

The Monster Mk1: A horror vehicle that would break down every other month and cost £2,050 to fix every year.

The car that's a nightmare

IF Dr Frankenstein built a car, it would surely look something like this – meet the Monster Mk1.

The Warranty Direct-inspired horror vehicle would break down every other month and cost an average of £2,050 to fix each year.

By uniting the cars with the worst profiles across the categories that make up its Reliability Index (www.reliabilityindex.com), a unique tool that measures car reliability by considering average cost of repair, frequency of failure, age and mileage, Warranty Direct reckons its ghastly creation is the stuff of nightmares.

The disastrous car cocktail draws its power from an MG TF engine, sits on the suspension of a BMW M3, has the electric workings of the Renault Mégane, the gearbox of a Land Rover Freelander and the braking ability of the Audi A8.

Overall, the Monster Mk1 claims a Reliability Index figure of more than 500 – more than five times that of the average car. The 'body parts' of the 'Nightmare Mk1' are:

MAKE/MODEL	CAR PART
Audi A8	Brakes
BMW M3	Suspension
MG TF	Engine
Land Rover Freelander	Gearbox
Mercedes-Benz V-Class	Ignition
Renault Megane	Electrics
Seat Alhambra	Aircon
Seat Toledo	Heating/Cooling systems
Volvo C70	Steering system

Overall, the Reliability Index shows that four in 10 vehicles require a trip to the workshop each year and some models can cost up to £7,000 a time to fix.

Warranty Direct managing director, Duncan McClure Fisher, said: "The Monster Mk1 represents the worst-performing vehicles in every sector, from suspension to electrics, on our roads today."

The wide range of cars included in our special blend highlights how mostly reliable cars can be dragged down by one problem part."

Nearly 40 per cent of BMW M3s require repairs to axle and suspension components alone each year, while the same proportion of Renault Méganes report an electrical fault.

One in five Land Rover Freelanders suffer transmission glitches each year and the same number of Audi A8s will need repairs to their brakes.

Close to a quarter of MG's TF sports cars will experience engine troubles, while if you like keeping cool, beware the SEAT Alhambra; more than one in eight will need their air-con fixed during a typical year.

The Monster Mk1 was created using Warranty Direct's database of 50,000 live policies on cars aged five years on average.

Warranty Direct cover starts from as little as £15 a month.

For more information on the reliability of your vehicle, visit www.reliabilityindex.com, or for a quote on cover you can visit www.warrantydirect.co.uk.

Best dealer stand: Drive Vauxhall scooped the award thanks to an impressive display of models.

Successful Two Counties Motor Show raises £10k

GORGEOUS weather provided the perfect backdrop for the region's largest motor show.

The Two Counties Motor Show organisers promised more classic cars, more new cars and more attractions than ever before and they didn't disappoint. The show was a huge success, attracting just under 3,000 people and raising more than £10,000 for local charities.

The show's own carbon neutral super being, the Eco Stig, was joined by his speed hungry cousin, the Stig, both of whom entertained visitors and posed for photos with the children.

Newcomer to the show Drive Vauxhall scooped the award for Best Dealer Stand with an impressive display and gone all out to ensure that people had a great time."

Trophy car: Keith Clarke won the Best Classic trophy.

BBC Radio Cambridgeshire's Richard Spendlove was on hand to judge the vast array of classic cars on display. He awarded the Best Classic trophy to Keith Clarke from Essex with his 1963 Ford Cortina Mk 1 1500 Woodie estate.

Second place was awarded to Alby Barham with his 1938 Buick McLaughlin Special and third place went to Peter Hale who brought along his Morris 10 convertible.

The Best in Show award went to Chris Wilson from Little Dilton, near Newmarket, for his 1938 'barn find' original unrestored 1936 Austin 10.

For the first time in the show's 11-year history, ticket holders were also eligible to enter into a grand prize draw with thousands of pounds worth of prizes up for grabs.

The winning ticket holders have been picked and are being contacted over the next few days. Details of the winners will be published next week.

Next year's show will be on June 24.

That's what Frendzy's for, says Renault

RENAULT has revealed details of its latest concept, the Frendzy.

It is the fourth step in the company's design strategy, based on the different stages of the human life cycle.

After the notion of 'love at first sight' expressed by the DeZir, discovering the world with the Captur and starting a family with the R-Space, the Frendzy presents the world of work.

The latest concept to be produced under the leadership of Laurens van den Acker has been designed as a multi-talented vehicle.

The Renault Frendzy: Work as car.

As a commercial business vehicle which can double up as a comfortable car, it meets the needs of business users on the one hand and families on the other. On the passenger's side, there's no glazing or centre pillar, just one conventional door and one sliding side door which incorporates a 37-inch widescreen display. This is the world of work.

The driver's side, complete with side windows, still no centre pillar, but with centre opening doors, represents the world of the family. Ease of loading and ease of entry go without saying in both worlds.

On weekdays, it is a vehicle that adapts to the requirements of the business user, with a large external screen that can display useful messages or information (such as "making deliveries" or "back in five minutes") or advertising messages.

Come the weekend, the vehicle transforms itself into a family vehicle, with a comfortable passenger seat and, in the rear, a big bench seat.

Depending on their mood of the moment, children can watch a film or play games on the touch-sensitive pad which slides out from the back of the driver's seat. They can even draw on a special blackboard-style slate integrated into the sliding door.

The driver, likewise, can adapt the vehicle to his or her needs. In work mode, the rear-view mirrors sit upright and the interior lighting is green; in family mode, the mirrors swivel round to the horizontal position and the interior is bathed in a radiant orange ambience.

The driver's side cockpit is designed around the theme of a futuristic 'work bench' featuring a structure which appears to be made from molten metal. A BlackBerry PlayBook tablet recently plugs into the dashboard to enable the concept of an office on wheels to become reality.

Suffolk Trade Centre makes buying a used car fun again

BUYING a car should always be a pleasurable experience for all concerned.

Sadly, while many car purchasers buy quite happily it's not always the case for everyone. The same can be said when having a vehicle serviced. We all obviously want the work to be carried out well and to a professional standard, and if possible, at a reasonable price.

One of those companies that believes in complying fully with customer needs is local independent used car sales dealership, Suffolk Trade Centre, where the team believe that all customers have a right to expect the best possible service and value for money.

Suffolk Trade Centre is an independent used car retailer based in Stradishall on the A143, between Bury St Edmunds and Haverhill. Established in 1988, Suffolk Trade Centre have an excellent reputation for providing quality and fairness which is quickly realised from the moment you walk onto their forecourt or in through their doors. You're met with courtesy and a welcoming smile which puts you in a good frame of mind straightaway. There's no rushing you off your feet and pushy commission-driven salesmen trying to sell you a car just to gain their commission. That's simply not the way that the team at Suffolk Trade Centre like to operate which is very reassuring.

Trevor Burgess, a director of the company, says: "We're here to please the customer, whether they wish to buy a car from us or have the current one serviced or repaired. After all, we want you to come back to us, and hopefully recommend us to your friends and family. So we listen to what our customers want and then do our best to provide for their exact needs. We have up to 50 handpicked 'real' quality used cars in stock which range in price from around £2,000 on up to around £20,000, so there's something to match most needs. What's more, all our cars come fully serviced and MOT tested along with very comprehensive warranty cover. Flexible finance can also be provided to help you with your next car purchase."

"In addition to being a used car retailer, Suffolk Trade Centre also operates a service centre and MOT test station where you'll find fully-trained, experienced motor technicians who can carry out servicing, repairs and diagnostic testing on all makes and model of vehicle, which they'll perform to an impressively high standard at a price that will hopefully please you."

When selling a car it is important that the consumer has confidence in what they are buying and also who they are buying it from. To provide confidence and to reassure the customer, all cars are HPI vehicle history checked and a copy of HPI certificate is always available to any potential purchaser.

When it comes to servicing and repairing vehicles Suffolk Trade Centre is a member of the Good Garage Scheme. Run by a respected independent company, the scheme recommends and actively promotes garages on the basis that they uphold and adhere to highest levels of service. These rigorous standards are maintained through regular unannounced visits and impartial auditing inspections.

Trevor concludes: "We enjoy looking after the surrounding community and their motoring needs and really appreciate their loyalty. Our website, www.suffolktradecentre.co.uk, has a stock list which showcases our selection of cars, all of which are photographed. You can also read in detail about each car's comprehensive list of the features.

"Why not check out what people say about us at www.goodgaragescheme.co.uk. Simply enter our postcode - CB8 8YN - on the home page."

You'll find Suffolk Trade Centre on Bury Road, Stradishall, Newmarket CB8 8YN. Call (01440) 820 994 for more details. You can also visit their website at www.suffolktradecentre.co.uk.

Your CV

When you send your CV off to a potential employer, remember that you won't be the only one. Hundreds of other people could be applying for the job as well.

So what are you going to do to make you stand out from the crowd? Why should an employer take a chance on you instead of someone else?

Your CV is your first real chance to sell yourself to a potential employer. Most employers will scan through a CV in about 30 seconds so you need to grab their attention from the start - and make them want to invite you for an interview.

There are five main areas to consider when writing your CV:

- Make sure your CV looks the part. Your CV should look clean and tidy - don't scrawl it out on a piece of A4 paper. If you haven't got access to a PC or printer, ask a friend or use your local library. Use a good quality paper and steer clear of fancy borders and front covers.
- Watch out for silly spelling and grammar mistakes. They make you look lazy and show employers that you don't really care. It's not difficult to do a spell check on your PC and if you're really stuck then don't just guess, reach for a dictionary. Get a friend to read through your CV for you - a second opinion is always useful.
- Make sure your CV is well organised. When you list your previous jobs, make sure the dates are correct and try not to leave any gaps. If you took time out to go travelling then say so - employers won't mark you down just because you've tried something new.
- Don't waffle. Remember that employers don't have time to read every word of your CV. Long paragraphs and sentences put people off, so try bullet-points to break up text. Make sure your CV is no longer than two pages long - employers don't want your life history, they just want to see that you've got what it takes to do the job.
- Don't list any failures. Employers have enough trouble finding someone who is right for the job - they don't need help finding reasons not to employ you. If you have to include a mistake from your past, make sure you show the employer that you learnt something from the experience.

Keep it simple

Personal details

Start off with your full name, address, date of birth, home and mobile phone numbers, email address and nationality. If you are offered an interview, the employer will want to get hold of you so give him as many options as possible.

Summary/professional profile

This is the No1 area for selling yourself. Set out your main skills and personal qualities but keep it interesting and tight - one paragraph should do to cover everything.

If you want to list them now make sure you include their name, job title, postal & e-mail address and contact phone numbers. Alternatively, just put "Available on request" so the employer knows to follow up references at a later date.

Add a covering letter

The main aim of a covering letter is to encourage an employer to give you a chance. You want them to read your CV, so sell it to them. You should always enclose a covering letter when applying for a job - most employers won't consider you unless you do.

A covering letter should let the employer know why you are interested in the job and why you think you can do it.

The hints and tips below should point you in the right direction:

- Keep it simple. A covering letter should be short and to the point - no more than six paragraphs.
- Mention the job. If you are replying to an advert, mention what the job is and where you saw it. The company may be advertising for other positions and it may not be clear which job you are applying for.
- Sell yourself. Explain why you are the perfect candidate for the job. Show off your strengths and experience. Refer to your CV - if it goes missing then at least an employer will know that you've sent it.
- Check it for mistakes. A silly spelling mistake in a covering letter is likely to cost you your chance of getting an interview. Also, make sure it is addressed to the right person in the right department.

A covering letter can be just as important as a CV in getting you an interview. It's your first point of contact with your potential employer - so make it count.

Interests & hobbies

Briefly list what you get up to in your spare time. Put down any positions you hold in clubs or associations, along with any responsibilities and achievements.

References

Make sure you have at least two people (including one from your previous or current job) who will tell an employer what a thoroughly nice person you are and what a potential asset to the company you would be.

Countdown is on for Rovers

WITH the excitement of the opening pre-season game against an Ipswich Town XI last night (Wednesday) out of the way, Haverhill Rovers turn their attention to a seven-game run-in to the start of the Ridgeons League, Premier Division campaign. They have pencilled in three games in a few days, playing Needham Market on Tuesday before a home game against Thetford next Thursday swiftly followed by a trip to Halstead on Saturday.

The league fixtures are due to be released on Tuesday, but the draws for the main FA competitions have been made with Rovers going to Stowmarket Town in the extra-preliminary round of the Cup, and landing a home tie against Norwich United in the second round qualifying of the Vase. Rovers lost 2-1 to a young Ipswich side at the New Croft, Coalan Lavery scoring both goals for the Blues with Joe Harvey replying.

PRE-SEASON

Tuesday – Haverhill Rov v Needham Market.

Thursday (July 21) – Thetford v Haverhill Rov.

Saturday (July 23) – Halstead v Haverhill Rov.

Tuesday (July 26) – Leiston v Haverhill Rov.

Thursday (July 28) – Haverhill Rov v Histon.

Tuesday (August 2) – Haverhill Rov v Ware.

Sunday (August 7) – Herne Bay v Haverhill Rov.

FA CUP with Budweiser

Extra preliminary round (August 20): Stowmarket Tn v Haverhill Rov. Preliminary round (September 3): Stowmarket or Haverhill v Mildenhall or Brantham Ath.

FA CARLSBERG VASE

Second round qualifying (September 24): Haverhill Rov v Norwich Utd.

Morrison move

MICHAEL Morrison made his debut for Charlton Athletic in the 3-0 defeat of Welling in a pre-season friendly on Saturday. The Haverhill-born defender, out of favour at Sheffield Wednesday, is one of 11 players brought in by Addicks' boss Chris Powell during the summer.

Morrison, 23, worked with Powell in a successful spell at Leicester City before switching to Wednesday in the January transfer window.

However, the former Cambridge United centre-back fell down the pecking order at the League One club when boss Alan Irvine was replaced by Gary Megson.

Paffett signs on

GARY Paffett received a welcome boost before last weekend's British Grand Prix at Silverstone by having his contract at Formula One giants Vodafone McLaren Mercedes extended for the 2012 season. The Haverhill-based test driver was widely-credited for playing a pivotal role in turning around the team's fortunes after an upgrade package failed to improve the car's performance as expected.

His work in the simulator helped to ensure that both Lewis Hamilton and Jenson Button had competitive cars for the second half of the season, the former finishing second and the latter fourth.

Paffett, who has also signed a contract extension with Mercedes' German Touring Car Masters (DTM) organisation, said: "As everybody knows, success in Formula 1 is developed through the strength and duration of relationships.

"I've been a part of this team for more than five years, and it's a place where I really feel happy and comfortable, and where I can confidently speak my mind."

■ Paffett has a break from the DTM until the Nurburgring round on August 7. His last race at Norisring ended on lap 16 of a rain-affected race when he ran into a wall.

Wilby holds on to earn 'major' prize

KAREN Wilby won the first major event of the Haverhill ladies' section's calendar, the Lady Captain's Cup.

She edged out ladies' section vice-captain Doreen Darbey by a shot with Sally Price third.

Also on the programme for the lady captain's day, hosted by Marian Mercer, were a men and junior boys 18-hole competition, comprising teams of three with the best two from three scores to count.

That was won by Richard Peck, John Stokes and David Peck, while Carol Day won the ladies' stableford section and Ailsa Patula won the junior girls' stableford.

Details – Men and junior boys competition: 1 Richard Peck, John Stokes and David Peck 83pts, 2 Gerry Scott, Scott Turner and Roger Turner 80pts, 3 Del Thomas, Steve Bush and Gordon Price 79pts. The Lady Captain's Cup – 1 Karen Wilby 87-16-71, 2 Doreen Darbey 98-26-72, 3 Sally Price 99-24-75. Stableford – Ladies: 1 Carol Day 24pts, 2 Jo Stokes 18. Junior girls: 1 Ailsa Patula 31pts, 2 Nicole Pike 28.

Jane Herrington, of the Haverhill ladies section, donated premier tickets for Ascot races for a raffle to raise funds for Mercer's chosen charity, EACH (East Anglia's Children's Hospices).

■ Haverhill's head professional Paul Wilby organised a fund-raiser day in aid of the club's junior academy, which stages coaching sessions every Saturday during the year and, in the summer, on Wednesday evenings.

Winning team were Trevor Broomfield, Ernie Lloyd, Jack Bligh and Richard Boyles with 84 points, followed by Mike Perrett, Liam Merritt, Mark Hilton and Steve Mills (81pts) and Paul Wilby, Debbie Howlett, Roger Toone and Glyn Davies (79pts). Richard Boyles won the nearest-the-pin prize and Jack Bligh hit the longest drive.

■ Haverhill ladies were beaten 3-1 in their match at the Gog Magog club in Cambridge.

Details (Haverhill names first) – Marian Mercer and Val Shipp lost 2&1 to Julie Stevenson and Chris McMullan, Doreen Darbey and Judy Farren lost 5&3 to Jenny Davies and Sue Thorpe, Chris Grainer and Jo Stokes lost 4&3 to Val Cuthbert and Sue Mortimer, Doreen Crosbie and Sheila Playle won 2&1 against Hilary Mundell and Vivien Raymond.

■ Judy Farren and Jacqueline Condon won the ladies' section's medal contests.

Details – Ladies Medal: 1 Judy Farren 108-34-74, 2 Pat Kennedy 96-17-79 (lowest gross), 3 Doreen Darbey 106-26-80. Saturday Medal: 1 Jacqueline Condon 95-17-78, 2 Geraldine Wheatley 101-22-79, 3 Pat Kennedy 99-17-82.

■ Haverhill Seniors have had a variety of results, halving their match at Towerlands, losing 4½-3½ at home to Stoke by Nayland, and then crushing Hintlesham 7½-½ at Coupals Road. They then won 5-3 at Fynn Valley and then lost 6-2 at Bourn.

It's wait and see in Haverhill cup bid

HAVERHILL have to wait and see whether they have qualified for the semi-finals of the Curry Cup. They were beaten 10½-7½ at Five Lakes to end second in Group C, and now rely on finishing as the highest-scoring runners-up to book their place in the next phase.

The carrot is that the final will be played at Coupals Road on September 24.

Wood you believe it?

Joe, Brunning and Ellis turn in match-winning spells as bowlers earn vital wins

JOE Woodley put Haverhill seconds back on the promotion trail with a six-wicket blast in the Marshall Hatchick Two Counties Championship, Division Six clash at Elmstead Grasshoppers.

Chasing a challenging 180 for 9, Grasshoppers made a solid start before Woodley whipped out the openers and then sliced through the middle order to finish with 6 for 35 off 10 overs.

With Stu Ketteridge weighing in with 2 for 32 Grasshoppers plunged to 10 all out.

Earlier, Liam Savage proved the mainstay of the Haverhill innings with 57.

■ The third team got their revenge on Madingley II, the only team to have beaten them in Division 6A of the Cricket Stick CCA Junior League – thanks to two amazing bowling spells.

Considering the overcast conditions, Madingley surprisingly decided to bat first after winning the toss and were scuppered for 70. Nigel Brunning finished with 5 for 26 off 10 overs before coach Richard Ellis rolled back the years with a phenomenal 3.3 over spell of four wickets without conceding a run.

Young wicketkeeper Billy Gage finished with three catches and a stumping as Madingley limped to 70 all out, a total Haverhill knocked off with 17 overs and six wickets in hand.

■ The first team tried to look on the bright side after losing by just six runs to Woolpit at the Manor in their crucial Marshall Hatchick Two Counties Championship, Division One clash.

Despite dropping five catches and seeing the visitors' tail-enders add 25 in a last-wicket stand, Haverhill still picked up 10 points – the maximum awarded in a defeat.

Woolpit finished on 227, with Raj Singh returning the best figures of 4 for 64 off 12.4 overs and Simon Youngs and Chris Silverwood weighing in with two each.

But, although Haverhill recovered from 11 for 3, several batsmen played themselves in but never went on to make match-winning scores.

Simon Youngs (27) and Dave Brown (36) steadied the ship and saw off the new ball with a 60-run partnership for the fourth-wicket before falling.

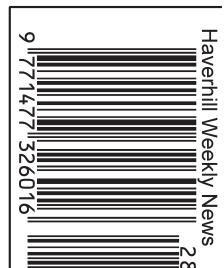

Bill Moran added 33 and Anthony Phillips 29 to get Haverhill in a good position, but they perished, leaving Silverwood and Scott Webb to push the innings on.

Thirty runs were needed when Webb fell for 24, and Silverwood managed to plant two huge sixes out of the ground before he was bowled for 32.

And when Singh was caught at deep midwicket Haverhill were just six runs short.
